

Work Safely With Lead-Based Paint!

FREE Training for:

- Painters
- Renovators
- Remodelers
- Maintenance Personnel
- Other interested individuals

Do you perform repairs, maintenance, painting, rehabilitation, remodeling or renovation in housing or structures built before 1979? Construction related work on pre-1979 structures can cause exposure to toxic levels of lead for your workers and the occupants. Lead-Safe Work Practices are easy to incorporate into all construction means and methods. Newly enacted state law makes it illegal to create lead hazards when disturbing lead-based paint and the City of San Diego is now enforcing those laws. Learn how to stay in compliance!

The City of San Diego Environmental Services Department is offering this one-day Lead-Safe Work Practices course. By taking this HUD-approved course and passing the short test at the end of the training, you will receive a Notice of Completion stating that you have been trained in working safely with lead-based paint. You will also receive a free manual with all the course details.

Being trained in lead-safe work practices gives you a competitive edge in bidding jobs!

This course is NOT for certification or licensing of lead inspectors, risk assessors, abatement supervisors, or abatement workers.
